COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course is intended to provide a forum to discuss the agency's strategic and executive level preparedness and response issues and challenges related to WMD/terrorism and other incidents of national significance. It is also intended to serve as a vehicle to share proven strategies and practices as well as enhanced teamwork and coordination among the agency's senior officials responsible for emergency response to a major incident. It will be conducted as a facilitated workshop and will integrate multimedia scenarios and vignettes that highlight the key issues and facilitate discussion.

AUDIENCE:

Elected officials, senior executives, senior managers and agency administrators with policy responsibilities, but without specific ICS or Multi-Agency Coordination System function/roles or responsibilities.

NIMS COMPLIANCE:

This course is NIMS compliant and meets the NIMS Baseline Training requirements for ICS-402.
